

Air Raid Test Successful In Some Areas, Weak In Others

Several Points Note Lack Of Cooperation

REACTION to yesterday's air raid test in Monroe County ranged from "very good" in suburban sections to "much need for improvement" in Stroudsburg.

That's the way Paul Crawn, executive director summed up the international test which sounded here at 10 a. m. and continued ten minutes.

Stroudsburg's alarm system was the only one which didn't send out the all-clear signal, Crawn said. And traffic moved freely over some back streets and didn't halt immediately on Main.

RUSSELL WILLIAMS, Stroudsburg CD director explained the borough's fire alarm siren sends out a warbling signal which suffices for alerts but is not suitable for the all-clear, designed as a continuous whistle for three-minute duration.

Because the borough has no facilities to properly send out the "all-clear" other arrangements being studied include an adjustment of the whistle at Monroe Silk Co. plant, N. Ninth St., Williams said. "Until such arrangements can be made to use that signal, Stroudsburg will have no 'all-clear' Williams added.

Crawn commented that Stroudsburg still needs more wardens and auxiliary police before its Civil Defense setup will be up to expectation.

IN EAST Stroudsburg, Civil Defense officials termed the test successful, with both pedestrians and motorists cooperating. Sirens sounded on time and no complaints were registered.

Two major complaints from Stroudsburg and Marshalls Creek CD workers was that "city people" wouldn't cooperate. "Many gave us a tough time," one Stroudsburg auxiliary policeman said. "They wouldn't get off the street here" was the way a Marshalls Creek spokesman put it.

A similar protest came from some Mount Pocono officials who said out-of-state motorists didn't comply with the alarm, and continued to move despite pleas to halt.

FROM A VANTAGE point in Stroudsburg a reporter watched the proceedings at Seventh and Main. Some of the conversation ran from "what's going on?" to "why are the sirens sounding—did a war break out or something?"

At 10 a. m. when the siren signaled commencement of the test traffic continued at a normal rate; trucks and cars moved into Seventh and Main and pedestrians walked along leisurely, pausing only to ask "what's the trouble?"

At 10:02 some traffic stopped, but other motorists kept right on going. Some pedestrians walked to the side, went under cover, while others continued to move ahead, unaware apparently instructions were to head for cover.

AT 10:04 practically all traffic stopped on Main St., but a few cars and trucks still kept going on back streets.

At 10:10 both the Stroud Township and East Stroudsburg sirens sounded the "all-clear" but in Stroudsburg there was no alarm to give.

Five Million 'Die' In Raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Civil Defense Administration last night estimated that at least 5,322,000 people were killed and 2,291,000 were injured in yesterday's mock atomic bombing attack by an unidentified enemy on major U. S. cities.

Val Peterson, federal civil defense administrator, said last night, hours after the mythical attack had been started:

"Today's nationwide civil defense test has thus far proved effectively what we had assumed—that the nation's civil defense team still has a long way to go in the field of operational readiness."

"This," he added, "is not to minimize the amazing scope and effectiveness of what has been accomplished up to this hour in the exercises. . . . We believe that the impact of this national civil defense exercise will serve both as a grim and reassuring alert to the American people."

Mrs. Lewisohn Dies In Crash

HOPEWELL JUNCTION, N. Y. (AP)—A few minutes after dropping Adlai Stevenson off at a friend's house, Mrs. Margaret Lewisohn, widow of the industrialist, banker and art patron, was injured fatally yesterday in an auto accident.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, had accepted a lift from Mrs. Lewisohn after he gave the commencement address at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Lewisohn, 59, was a member of the Vassar Board of Trustees. She was the widow of Sam A. Lewisohn.

Ransom Money, Pistol Found

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) — A bundle of ransom money and a pistol were found yesterday near the Superstition Mountains where kidnapped Evelyn Ann Smith was held captive and then released last week.

Four persons said they had been to the spot earlier without seeing the bundle.

Detective Earl Moore sighted the glowing gun in a dry wash about a dozen feet off a road on which he was driving a car.

IN THE BUNDLE were seven packages of $100, $50, $20 and $10 bills, the denominations which a ransom note directed the victim's husband, Herbert Smith, to take to a rendezvous last Thursday.

The bundle "apparently contained the entire $75,000," Police Chief Charles Thomas announced. None of the packages of bills had been opened.

Mrs. Smith, 23, wife of a wealthy Phoenix business man, was abducted at gunpoint from in front of a Phoenix beauty parlor last Wednesday afternoon.

INSTRUCTIONS delivered to Smith's home in a bouquet of roses directed him to take the money to the Superstition Mountains, 45 miles east of Phoenix. When he arrived at the designated spot he found his wife the captive of a masked man.

Smith took his wife home after the masked man disappeared with a valise containing the money.

Four hours later, Daniel J. Marsin, 41, unemployed Phoenix welder, was apprehended near a ranch house a few miles from where Mrs. Smith was released. Marsin contended he had become lost while prospecting. Mrs. Smith identified him as her kidnaper.

Senate Passes Big Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate yesterday passed its sixth revenue bill of the session, providing $1,140,850,000 for the State, Commerce and Justice Departments in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Before the measure was approved by voice vote, the Democrats narrowly failed in an attempt to prohibit any future political speechmaking by W. Scott McLeod.

Hoffman Admitted Taking $300,000 To Meet Blackmail Demands, Finance Campaigns

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Former Gov. Harold G. Hoffman told his daughter in an "open after death" letter that he had embezzled $300,000 to finance his political campaigns and meet blackmail demands, it was revealed yesterday at a dramatic news conference.

The startling story was announced by Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner and other state officials. They said Hoffman admitted the years-old embezzlement from a hometown bank he headed in a letter written about May 1.

Hoffman died June 4, several months after he was suspended as the director of the New Jersey Division of Employment Security.

MRS. ADA LEONARD said her father told her to destroy the documents—to be read upon his death—and she did.

Later, however, on advice of her father's attorney, she delivered an affidavit outlining the story of how Hoffman "became involved in monetary difficulties as a very young man and a very poor man" and began covering himself by drawing from inactive accounts in the South Amboy Trust Co., which he headed at the time of his death.

The bank also held $1,200,000 in state funds.

Mrs. Leonard sent a letter from her home in Madison, N.J., to Meyner yesterday, in which she pledged that the family will "ante up to the final cent" the missing $300,000.

HOFFMAN, who died of a heart attack at the age of 58, before any formal charges were announced in connection with his suspension, had held the employment security post the past 15 years, taking over shortly after he concluded his term as governor from 1935 to 1937. His governorship spanned the period of the sensational Lindbergh baby kidnap case, in which Hoffman gained nationwide notoriety.

Hoffman gave this account of monetary difficulties: "A certain wealthy elder candidate, who is now deceased," promised to support Hoffman's campaign if Hoffman would stump his district in favor of the "elder candidate."

HE SAID he got only $2,500 instead of the $17,500 he expected. He said "the high cost of Washington living" and "many disappointments suffered at the hands of friends" ran him further into debt. "Things got deeper and deeper until in 1938, I found myself involved to the extent of $300,000," she quoted Hoffman as saying.

Mrs. Leonard said Hoffman accused "a certain state official, unnamed but dead," of blackmailing him when he asked for help. He said, according to Mrs. Leonard:

"HE HELPED" all right—but from that time on he "borrowed" money from me to lavish on certain gambling operations of his own. This money, he assured me, would in turn win money enough to enable me to clean the slate at the bank."

He blackmailed me into giving him something like $150,000. . . . Mrs. Leonard said the letters told her.

House Group Votes Higher Dairy Props

By Wilnot Hercher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Challenging the administration's farm policy, the House Agriculture Committee voted 22-6 yesterday to raise the government's price supports for dairy products from 75 to 80 per cent of parity next winter.

It also approved legislation which would authorize subsidy payments to domestic wool producers to bring their prices above the current 90 per cent of parity support level.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson ordered dairy supports cut from 90 per cent of parity to 75 last April 1 in an attempt to reduce the country's mounting surplus of butter, cheese and milk, which the government buys and stores.

THE ADMINISTRATION is also pressing for a lower, more flexible system of price supports than the high, rigid levels now in effect.

A large group of farm state congressmen opposes this move, and those from dairy states would like to get stronger government support for milk products.

Rep. Andersen (R-Minn.) succeeded in getting the committee to write the higher dairy supports into the omnibus farm bill it will present to the House in a week or so. The 80 per cent level would be mandatory and would be in effect from next Sept. 1 to April 1, 1955.

Parity is a price for farm products declared by law to be fair to the farmer in relation to the cost of basic things he buys.

TO ENCOURAGE production of wool up to 300 million pounds a year, the committee voted that an amount equivalent to 70 per cent of specific duties collected on wool and wool products would be used to finance a system of subsidy payments. This was an administration-backed proposal.

As of now, wool is supported at 90 per cent of parity under an Agriculture Department "loan" program. The new proposal would remove the support level maximum of 90 per cent and allow subsidy payments considerably above that price.

The House committee limited such payments to a two year period beginning last April 1.

Ultimatum Sent Arbenz

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report reached official quarters here last night that the army in Guatemala has given President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman an ultimatum to resign by sometime today.

The report, which excited keen interest among top officials, said that Arbenz had conditionally agreed to get out. He heads a leftist government, which received a 10-million-dollar shipment of 2,000 tons of arms from the Soviet Communist bloc about a month ago.

Young Takes Control Of New York Central; Directors Elect Perlman To Succeed White

By Ed Morse

NEW YORK (AP) — The board room doors of the mighty New York Central Railroad swung open yesterday for Robert R. Young as the Texas-born financier took over the nation's second largest railroad.

The first action of Young and his new board of directors was to elect Young as their $1-year chairman and Alfred E. Perlman, 51, executive vice president of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, as president at an undisclosed salary.

PERLMAN succeeds William White who quit his $120,000-a-year job as president of Central, carrying out his promise to do so if Young won.

Thus ended the greatest business fight of a generation and the biggest railroad war since the Hill-Harriman conflict in the Northwest after the century's turn.

Young and his successful slate went to the massive Central office building astride Park Avenue and took possession soon after word came from Albany that the election inspectors had officially named him the winner by a margin of approximately 2-

Dulles Willing To Withhold Arms Aid From France, Italy Unless They Join EDC Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles was reported yesterday to be "entirely willing" to cut off all military aid to France and Italy in an effort to prod them into joining the six-nation European army.

The European Defense Community plan is a cornerstone of American foreign policy.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said Dulles' drastic stand was outlined to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Asst. Secretary of State Livingston Merchant at a private session.

PRESENT LAW provides that 50 per cent of foreign aid funds voted for EDC countries be withheld until they have linked themselves together in the defense community. Now, according to Smith and Merchant, the secretary of state is ready to go even further.

Smith, a senior Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said France's continued delay in considering EDC membership is posing "particularly serious" implications in Germany, where Chancellor Adenauer is under increasing criticism for his policy of European integration.

The six EDC countries are France, Italy, Western Germany,

Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands. All but France and Italy have ratified EDC.

MERCHANT APPEARED before the committee to discuss the administration's 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid bill for the 12 months beginning July 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

Dulles' stronger foreign aid policy came to light as top American officials privately expressed concern about the prospect that Pierre-Mendes-France might become France's new premier, succeeding Joseph Laniel, who was voted out of office Saturday.

Although the State Department kept an official silence, senior officials were known to believe Mendes-France's confirmation would weaken Western policies in Asia and also in Europe.

Chinese Step Up Military Aid To Vietnam As Geneva Talks Move Toward Final Showdown

SAIGON, INDOCHINA (AP)—The French High Command said last night Chinese military aid to Vietnam Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's armies appears to have increased in the last week.

A command spokesman who announced this said he could give no immediate figures or further details. He said the augmented aid is coming over the usual highway routes from China to Vietnam bases in northern Viet Nam.

The Chinese were supplying Giap an average of 3,000 tons of aid a month before the battle of Dien Bien Phu. For that 56-day struggle they greatly increased their deliveries of arms, munitions and heavy artillery.

GENEVA (AP)—Vyacheslav M. Molotov made a slight concession yesterday in an effort to keep the Indochina peace talks going, but the United States, France and Britain agreed that it wasn't enough—by far.

The Soviet Foreign Minister agreed to give up in certain cases, only cloudily outlined, the "unanimity rule," or veto, in the voting procedure of the proposed neutral nations commission which would oversee an Indochina armistice.

However, the Soviet diplomat insisted again that the members of the neutral commission, should be Czechoslovakia, Poland, India and Pakistan. It was not clear how a majority vote could emerge from such a body unless Pakistan, or India agreed with the Communist view. Molotov, it was reported, suggested a "preponderant vote" for the president of the commission, but the exact function of the president did not emerge clearly.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was reported to have told the conference bluntly that unless some progress were made Wednesday, when the status of Laos and Cambodia are to be discussed, there would be no point in continuing the argument.

Mendes-France Maps Plea For Confirmation

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France, staunch advocate of a policy to firm up the French economy through cuts in military expenditures, labored last night on a program he hopes will win his confirmation as premier of this country's 20th Cabinet since liberation.

He tried it once before, just a year ago, and failed. The best guessing in the corridors of Parliament is that he will fail again this time, and that France will have to find another man to be her 14th premier in 10 years.

HIS POLICY suggestions are certain to be received coldly in the United States.

President Rene Coty asked Mendes-France informally Sunday night to succeed Premier Joseph Laniel. The former finance minister, a member of the Radical Socialist moderate party, gave his "yes" yesterday morning.

'Silent Man' Backs Claim Of Blackmail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Francis P. Carr, the "strong, silent man" of the McCarthy-Army hearings, broke his silence yesterday and gave a detailed, sworn endorsement of "blackmail" charges leveled by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) against high Army officials.

The 37-year-old Carr, executive director of McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, testified Army Counselor John G. Adams persistently dangled favors for Pvt. G. David Schine as "bait" to lure off the McCarthy investigation of alleged subversion in the Army.

HE ACKNOWLEDGED under cross examination at the afternoon's televised session, however, he knew of no action taken against Schine when McCarthy disregarded pleas by Adams and by Secretary of the Army Stevens that the probe be called off.

The 33rd day of the waning inquiry wound up in another heated exchange between McCarthy and Sen. Symington (D-Mo.).

Symington, a former secretary of the Air Force, declared Carr's testimony proves the McCarthy subcommittee's handling of its files is "the sloppiest and most dangerous" to security he has ever seen.

MCCARTHY ACCUSED the Missourian of making a Communist-type "dishonest smear" of the subcommittee staff. He accused Symington of running away when Symington, flushed with anger, strode out with other subcommittee members to answer a Senate roll call.

Carr took the witness stand — temporarily replacing McCarthy — at his own request. The Republican senators hearing the case voted several weeks ago, with Democrats dissenting, to clear him of "improper pressure" charges in connection with the Schine affair.

A longtime FBI agent, Carr testified in policemanlike fashion that he knew of no "improper" pressure by McCarthy or the senator's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, on behalf of Schine, a wealthy young New Yorker who had been serving as unpaid consultant to the subcommittee.

BUT THE ARMY side, and Adams in particular, he said, started "blackmail" tactics as early as last October. Adams continually referred to Schine as "the hostage," Carr said. And while agreeing with Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) that the Army lawyer is "a master of the flip phrase," Carr said Adams wasn't always kidding about this "hostage" business.

Time after time, Carr said, Adams "baited" Cohn with such suggestions as:

"What's in it for us if we do something for Schine?"

Carr threw one new figure into the hearings — quoting Adams as saying last March 5 there were some 200 Communists or alleged Communists in Army uniform.

THE WITNESS said Adams mentioned this figure in a semi-humorous conversation in which Adams "volunteered" to have Stevens go before the subcommittee and testify about the Army's handling of Communists.

Carr said Adams asked how many "uniformed Communists" the subcommittee planned to question.

"I told him," Carr said, "we know of several."

"He said that 'There are probably 200 of them in the Army that you could call before the committee.'"

"HE ASKED ME if there was any possibility of discontinuing calling any more of these uniformed members of the party, or alleged members of the party, before the subcommittee, until after Mr. Stevens had testified."

"I told him I would see what I could do about that matter."

Guatemala-Bound Arms Held Up In West Germany

HAMBURG, GERMANY (AP)—Six tons of Swiss anti-aircraft ammunition consigned to leftist-governed Guatemala have been held up here at the request of American officials, the U. S. High Commission announced yesterday.

High commission officials insisted the ammunition was live, although a representative of the Free Port of Hamburg said it was marked "dummy ammunition," meaning that the shells were without explosives.

Savings-Loan Managers Open State Session

POCONO MANOR—The rapid growth of the savings and loan business in recent years brings with it the necessity for "group thinking and planning" to supplement the individual thinking of the past, representatives of the industry were told here yesterday.

"In past years our associations operated more individual units and were so accepted by the public," George H. Herb Wilkinsburg, president of the Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League, noted in an address at the opening session of a savings and loan managers' conference.

"Today, we are big business and big business brings with it big problems to which no one man has the answer, even for his own association."

HICKS, WHO IS executive vice president of the Standard Savings and Loan Association of Wilkinsburg, declared that the savings and loan association of today "is expected to have a fairly uniform type of operation with sufficient supervision that everything will be as represented."

"Such matters as safety, liquidity, and reserves are taken for granted and our individual associations are judged by appearance, type of personnel and service rendered," he said.

"Today, when a customer stops in a bank he expects bank service. When he buys a car he expects standard equipment. And when he patronizes a savings and loan association, he expects savings and loan service."

IN OTHER addresses at the opening session of the three-day meeting, James B. King, Harrisburg, executive vice president of the Savings and Loan League revealed that savings and loan assets in Pennsylvania passed the one and three-quarter billion mark in the first half of 1954, and Edward N. Hay, Philadelphia consultant, told the executives how to capitalize on the increasingly important role of the "man" in management.

Hay observed that business is "slowly learning how to use the psychologist's skill" in hiring and advancing employees, and he urged savings and loan officials to give proper thought not only to the filling of key positions, but to the hiring of clerical employees as well.

"COST AND efficiency is greatly affected by the quality of the clerical staff," he commented. "Today, aptitude testing has made available tools which will vastly improve the selection of clerical workers."

"In one financial institution, the level of production in one department rose eleven per cent in less than six years, due entirely to the introduction of well chosen aptitude tests."

Why Chiropractic?

By Dr. Elwood S. Field

Have you wondered how a Chiropractor by adjusting a spinal vertebrae could help a heart condition or a menstrual condition? The autonomic nervous system governs the activities of heart and muscle of the digestive and sweat glands and of certain endocrine glands. This system which consists of two cords running alongside of the vertebral bodies is under the control of centers within the central nervous system and cannot function as an independent unit. A vertebral misalignment within the spinal column causing pressure on the central nervous system could cause a malfunction of the autonomic system which in turn affects the regulation of heart or digestive tissues or possibly interfere with the glandular secretions of the endocrines which balance the menstrual cycle.

The Chiropractor is scientifically trained to locate and remove the vertebral misalignments causing pressure on the central nervous system.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain, and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. Elwood S. Field whose office is located at 121 Washington St. Tel. 2706, East Stroudsburg.)

SUMMER EGG QUALITY

Does Summer egg quality give you a headache? Seems there's always a surplus of low-quality eggs going to breaking plants, but never enough top quality eggs. Folks who break out a few "runny" eggs lose their appetite in a hurry, and consumption of all eggs drop.

Production of top quality summer eggs is actually not too difficult. It takes a little effort, but folks who are trying report it pays.

CULLS WILL ROB YOU IF YOU LET 'EM

You can't boost the price of eggs, but by culling you can lower your production cost. It's wise to study your production costs, then to determine the production rate necessary to leave you a profit. Holding production at 60%, 65%, or 75% may take some close culling, but it's the best way we know to protect profits.

We are looking forward to a visit from you. If there is any way we can help with your livestock or poultry feeding or management problems, remember we are here to serve you.

East Borough Resident Kills Wife, Then Takes Own Life

William Post Said To Have Fired 3 Shots

A MURDER and suicide were uncovered in East Stroudsburg yesterday when borough police were called to 313 Normal St. at 4:20 p.m.

Police said William G. Post, 63, shot his wife there and then turned his 30 caliber rifle on himself.

Deputy Coroner John L. Rumsey issued a verdict of homicide and suicide.

One of the Post's neighbors telephoned Police Chief Arthur Swink and said, "I'm afraid there's been some shooting" at the Post house.

SWINK AND Officer Travis Seese went to investigate. The same neighbor evidently had telephoned an ambulance, for the ambulance crew had already arrived and the front door was open, Officer Seese said.

The wife, Anna, 62, was dead at the foot of the stairs. She was sitting on the floor, leaned against the wall. Seese said there was a great deal of blood on the floor and wall.

Post was in his bedroom on the second floor. He lay on his back, with his feet off the bed and resting on the floor. The bullet wound was in the left side of his chest, Seese said.

THE MARLIN rifle, a gift from Post's son, John, who lives at the home, lay on the floor between the Post's twin beds.

Seese later talked with Durling Ace, a borough employee who was Post's supervisor on some borough road work. Ace said Post had come to work in the morning as usual, carrying his lunch pail.

Later that morning, Post told Ace he had to take off for the afternoon. "He just said he was going to quit," Seese said.

Post ate his lunch with the crew, then evidently went home, Seese said.

FROM HIS investigation at the scene, Seese developed this theory:

Post was in his room. He had the rifle out and loaded. Mrs. Post walked into the room.

Post raised the rifle and fired at her. The bullet may or may not have hit or grazed Mrs. Post, but the slug passed on through the open door of the bedroom. It crossed the hall, entered through another open door into the room opposite, nicked the upper edge of a mirror on the northeast side of the house, then passed out through the wood casing of a window.

MRS. POST turned and ran down the stairs. Post rose and chased her. When Mrs. Post reached the foot of the stairs, Post was just coming around the landing half way down. He raised his rifle and fired again. The bullet entered Mrs. Post's body through her left arm, which was shattered.

Then, Seese theorized, Post went back upstairs to his bedroom, lay on the bed and shot himself.

The slug went through an upper rib, evidently grazed the shoulder blade in its passage and emerged through his back. The bullet went through the ticking of the mattress on which he lay, glanced off a bed spring and dropped onto the floor under the bed, where it was recovered by Seese.

SUPPORTING Seese's theory was discovery of an ejected empty cartridge case on the landing; another in the bedroom; and a third empty cartridge in the rifle.

Following an autopsy by Dr. M. J. Leitner, General Hospital pathologist, a report was issued that Mrs. Post died of hemorrhage and shock caused by a perforating wound through the left arm, left lower chest and abdomen.

Post died of a penetrating wound in the left chest, the report said.

SESE said the son, John Post, could offer no cause, explanation or reason for his father's act. He told Seese that the previous day he and his parents had gone on a picnic and his father had appeared in good spirits.

But Seese learned from residents living near the Posts that the previous night Post told neighbors of quarreling with his family.

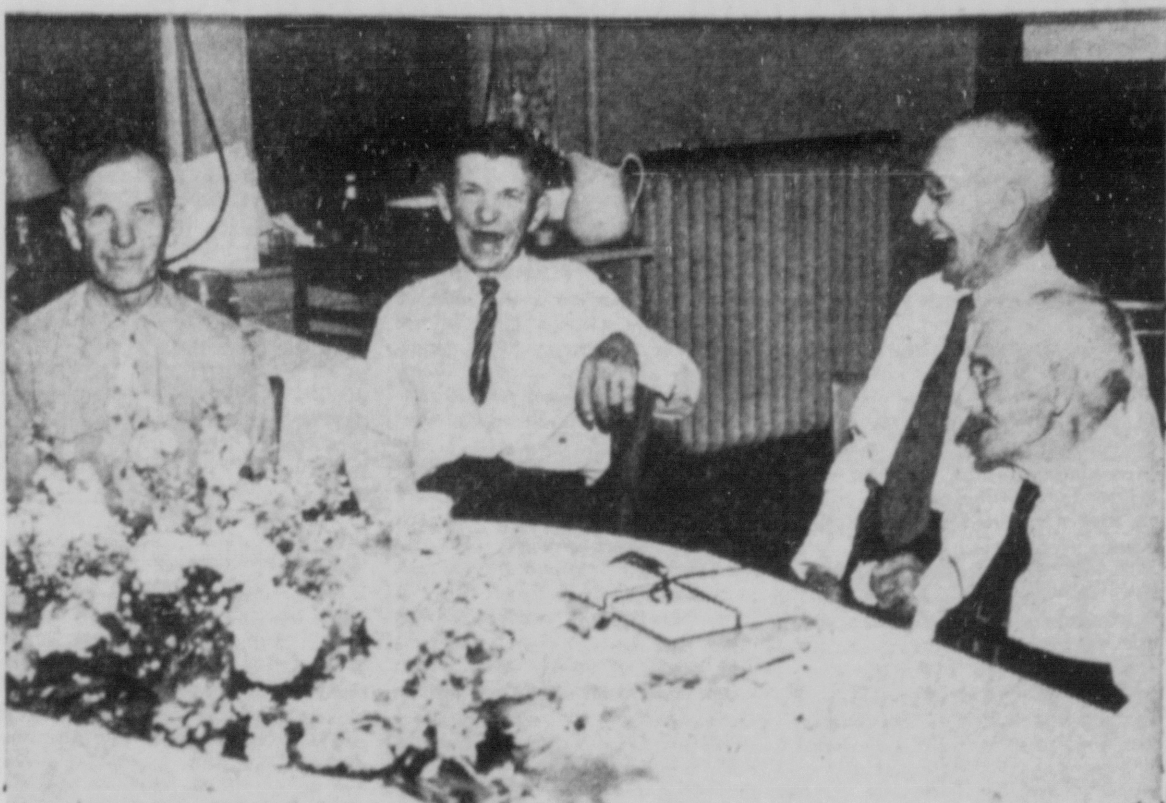

Dr. Rumsey said that Post suffered an attack of Guillain-Barre disease, or polynuropathy—a painful inflammation of many nerves in the body. The attack occurred during November and December, but Post was then discharged from East Stroudsburg General Hospital in good enough condition to go home and resume normal living.

ON FEB. 23 this year Seese was called, he said, to the Post residence by Mrs. Post and her son who said Post had been threatening them with physical violence and they thought he might carry it out.

Post was committed to county jail. In his absence, Seese on the family's request, took Post's rifle and ammunition from the house and turned it over to another son, William, in Stroudsburg.

Post was removed from the county jail and committed to Alentown State Hospital in late February. He was there about a month, Seese said, then was discharged.

YESTERDAY John Post explained how his father had got back the gun: he had raised such a fuss about having to have the gun, Seese was told, that the family decided to give it back together with the ammunition. "After all, it

Reports Vary On Results Of County Air Raid Alert

Pennsylvania Reports Test 'Successful'

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pedestrians scooted for cover and vehicles pulled over to the curb yesterday in an air raid alert in which Pennsylvania's part was termed "highly successful."

The only hitch in the general plan as far as Pennsylvania is concerned, Civil Defense Director Richard Gerstell said, was the failure of warning devices in some localities.

"But now is the time to find these things out," said Gerstell. "Tomorrow may be too late."

THE ALERT was the first to be continent-wide since World War II days. Included in the exercise were all 48 states, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The purpose of the entire project was to test overall effectiveness of state and local attack warning systems, public reaction to a "surprise" sounding of warning signals and to test basic civil defense communications facilities.

In Philadelphia, the day's hazy atmosphere harmed effectiveness of the warning signal. It was reported the sound of the sirens went unheard in some downtown office buildings.

Most of Pennsylvania's 67 counties reported warning signals promptly and properly sounded.

GSA Turns Down Lead Purchases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has turned down industry's first offerings of lead under President Eisenhower's "long term" stockpiling program, it was disclosed yesterday, presumably because the price is too high.

Zinc offerings are being taken, but a spokesman for the stockpile buying agency, General Services Administration (GSA), said the government purchase is being split up among various producers. No deals have been closed so far.

Zinc and lead are the two "depressed" metals, which the Office of Defense Mobilization authorized GSA to purchase a week ago, as a national defense measure and a device for stabilizing the metals and minerals industry.

was his property," Seese said he was told.

Mrs. Post was a native of Philadelphia. She was a member of Grace Lutheran Church, social member of Mrs. Robert Smith's Sunday school class and the Sunshine sewing club.

Mr. Post was a native of Middle Smithfield. He had been employed by LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery and State Highway Department.

THE COUPLE leave a daughter, Mrs. Deward R. Shook, East Stroudsburg; two sons, William G. Post Jr., Stroudsburg; John, at home and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Post is also survived by four sisters: Mrs. James J. Rigley, Mrs. Louise Bauer, Mrs. Katherine Nace, Mrs. Charles Helfer and a brother, William Bauer, all Philadelphia.

Joint funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. in Dunkelberger & Westbrook funeral home, Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, D. D., St. John's Lutheran will officiate. Interment will be made in Laurelwood Cemetery. Friends may call Thursday after 7 p. m. at the funeral home.

Heir's Bride Disappears

Motorists sat in their cars until 10:17, then finally one left his auto and asked an auxiliary policeman "what's the holdup—the all-clear sounded at 10:10." A Stroudsburg policeman moved to the traffic signal junction box, tripped the switch, then motioned officers at Sixth and Eighth streets to send traffic ahead.

IN THE COURTHOUSE where Crawn and Judge Fred W. Davis, director were receiving calls from outlying communities saying "all went well here," two women and a Boy Scout were busy checking all five county zones for reaction to the test.

Mrs. Mary Blair, Mrs. Catherine Miller and Bob Schell, of Air Post 88, got this reaction: "Marshall's Creek—'The city people wouldn't cooperate; refused to move off the streets.'"

Bushkill, Shawnee, Tannersville, Delaware Water Gap, Brodheadsville, Pocono Lake, Tobyhanna, Long Pond, Kunkletown, Kresgeville, Sciota and other sections—"very good."

BUCK HILL-Cresca—"quite good. State police helped a lot. But phones to the Stroudsburg CD headquarters were tied up. Some telephone operators didn't seem to know what was going on."

Mount Pocono—"People cooperated very well. Auxiliary police did a good job. But out of state cars wouldn't stop."

Crawn said the bell and light system in key centers throughout the county worked very well, and phone calls from the Eastern Pennsylvania Center at Ogontz came in on time.

The yellow signal came through at 9:30; red alert at 10, and white, or all-clear, at 10:10.

THE COUNTY exercise at night was one of the most elaborate test and training affairs ever staged in Monroe. At the climax of the affair there were about 150 workers at the East Stroudsburg/American Legion auditorium, which served as headquarters.

The refugees and wounded (in theory) were brought in by car and by ambulance. They were registered at the doors of the auditorium, filled out forms which would enable relatives and others to locate them later.

Those in need of medical care were carried to the aid station portion of the headquarters. Uniformed CD nurses took over at this point, bandaging, transfusing, treating for shock and for fractures, burns, cuts and bruises.

AMBULANCE crews in white coveralls—drafted from all over the county—took the litter cases up the steps and into the auditorium for treatment.

Red Cross volunteers were on hand. The Red Cross ambulance was also used to transport the injured. Salvation Army workers aided the refugees. Pastors and a rabbi were in the auditorium to comfort those arriving from the "bombed" areas.

Communications were maintained by mobile and by portable shortwave radio hookups with the CD network. Courthouse headquarters kept tabs on all that happened, by shortwave. About 9:30 p. m. the exercise ended.

CD workers, volunteers, nurses, Boy Scouts, auxiliary police, wardens, radio men, zone directors, auxiliary firemen and even the "wounded" with their crutches under their arms went home.

Playgrounds, Pools Open Here Tomorrow

POOLS AND PLAYGROUNDS at Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg will open for the season Wednesday morning.

At Stroudsburg, Samuel O. Wells III, playground supervisor, said the playground would be open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The pool will be open from 1 to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

There will be free swimming from 1 to 3 p.m. From 3 to 6 p.m., and again from 6 to 8 p.m., admission will be required. Rates are: age 1 to 12, a nickel; age 13 to 17, a dime; and 18 and over, 15 cents.

EAST STROUDSBURG playground supervisor Lewis R. Hastie said that playground would be open from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Free swimming is from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Paid admission to the pool is from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Rates are the same as Stroudsburg's except for adults, who pay 25 cents.

Swimming instruction classes are held during the morning sessions. There is no charge for lessons. Senior and junior life saving classes are held during the night sessions.

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY the pool is open from 1 to 5 p.m. only. Those interested in senior life-saving class should report to the pool at 6:30 p.m. on opening day, Hastie said.

Swimming classes are by Red Cross-certified instructors. Holders of certificates this year are Mary Sue Harvey and Thomas Foley. Miss Harvey at present is attending a two-week Red Cross session on water safety near Pittsburgh. East Stroudsburg pool will close Aug. 21.

Stroudsburg Council Hires Consultant Firm To Set Up Pension Plan For Borough Employees

PENSION CONSULTANTS ORGANIZATION, Philadelphia, was retained last night to set up a municipal employees pension system.

Action came after long discussion and study of varied proposals. The firm is authorized to start work immediately on creating a pension, or retirement plan proposal for all borough employees. Varied details are to be worked out with council, after the consultant studies ages, length of services, wages and other facts regarding employees.

PRELIMINARY thought of council is that any such plan adopted should include pension, death benefits and disability. Cost of the plan to the borough will depend on many factors to be worked out with the consultant.

Pension Consultants Organization has set up a retirement system in East Stroudsburg. They are represented here by Gordon Miller.

Representatives of three utility companies, P. P. & L., Metropolitan Edison and Bell Telephone met with council for a discussion on possibility of consolidating all utilities on the same poles along Broad Street.

TED HENNING, local manager for Metropolitan Edison said all three utilities had planned to utilize the same poles from Park Ave. at the foot of Foxtown Hill to Bryant and from Colbert to the new Fifth St. bridge.

Because of underground cable difficulties, Metropolitan Edison and Bell move to the south side of the street at Bryant and P. P. & L. to the west side at that point and continue in that manner to Colbert where all three go back to using the same poles.

Paul McBride, manager of P. P. & L., advised council that in collaboration with Metropolitan Edison, poles on Ann St. will be cut down from 12 to six by joint usage when the bridge project is completed.

HE PROPOSED moving a pole at the Cohen dental office and an alley back of Bell Telephone Co.

which is now an obstruction. However, police red light and fire alarm systems are on the pole. Council agreed to install a messenger cable to carry these borough wires, thus permitting removal of the pole.

A map submitted by P. P. & L. covering light for approaches to new Fifth St. bridge was approved. Project involves relocation of one light and installation of four new lights, none of which will be on the bridge.

The Flag

It was a case of "now and then one" around the Pocono Mountains yesterday for the observance of Flag Day.

Too few people displayed enough interest in the Flag of the United States to show it during a legal holiday in Pennsylvania—a day fixed by Presidential Proclamation to honor the Nation's banner and all it symbolizes.

And while there were too few Flags shown, too many of these were soiled, wrinkled and generally unkempt. This lack of care or interest has been noticed in many parts of the state by varied veterans groups who did something about it.

THE SUM TOTAL

It's such a good idea, we'd like to pass it on for consideration here:

American Legion or Veterans of Foreign Wars groups contact dry cleaning establishments and with their cooperation invite everybody to have their Flag dry cleaned—Free.

The one condition is the owner displays the Flag on Flag Day and other instances which properly require such display.

Certainly it will do no harm to make every citizen conscious of his Flag, and everything it has meant and adds up to in their lives today—Freedom.

Well Drawn Contrast

The contrast between two groups of people working in Geneva, Switzerland, was strikingly drawn by Rep. Francis E. Walter, (D), Easton, in an interview which was recently broadcast overseas by the U. S. Information Agency's Voice of America.

Walter returned recently from Geneva where he served as an American representative on the Inter-government Commission for European Migration.

After he described the work of the Commission, he was asked what impressed him most. He replied:

"The fact that there, in the old palace of the League of Nations, were two conferences being held at the same time—the Commission meeting in one room and the conference on Far Eastern problems fighting in another.

"In one room were representatives of 27 nations intent on bringing about amity and accord, and in the other a group of people, many of whom were there for the purpose of preventing a solution.

"The contrast was indeed a marked one and it demonstrated to me that on the outside of the Iron Curtain the free nations of the world want to find solutions to important problems, while behind the Iron Curtain discord and discontent and confusion are the things sought."

While the Congressman's example of Communism's destructive forces in a sense confirms every American's reaction to the Russian state and its satellites, it must serve as a sharp reminder that free people dare not relax their vigilance and their battle against so deadly an enemy.

General—

Fall in!

Cohn—May I answer that in my own way?

General—Didn't you hear my command?

Cohn—Would you mind repeating that question?

General—Take your place in the line. Haven't I met you some place before?

Cohn—I will give you a yes or no answer to that, sir. Yes.

General—Your face is familiar, but I don't recall the doctility. Oh, I remember where we met!

Cohn—Must you? I was afraid of that, sir.

General—It seems to me it was at some sort of a hearing.

Cohn—At this point, may I have counsel?

General—Do you need counsel?

Cohn—At this juncture in my life I have an idea I need counsel, deputy counsel, bodyguards and a two-platoon defense system.

General—I suppose you know why you are here?

Cohn—I understand I will get some combat training.

General—You were never so right, boy! Have you had any combat training?

Cohn—If my last ten days on the witness stand didn't constitute combat training, nothing ever will.

General—Specifically, what sort of training did you get?

Cohn—McClellan shellfire, the Jackson commando routine, the Jenkins jungle warfare course and all the May-I-refresh-Your-Recollection techniques.

General—Have you ever done any KP duty?

Cohn—No, but something tells me I will get plenty for the next two weeks.

General—How are you on wall

U.S. Seeks Direct U.N. Intervention In Indochina

Washington — The U. S. will seek direct United Nations intervention in Indo-China.

President Eisenhower and his advisers have definitely decided on that.

A forthcoming demand by Thailand that the U. N. take forceful action against the sinister Red menace in Indo-China will have full American backing.

A special meeting of the General Assembly will be convened for this showdown.

The U. S. will support Thailand's plan regardless of British views. This is a significant change. Previously the U. S. withheld pressing for UN intervention because of British insistence on negotiations with Russia and Red China at the Geneva Conference.

Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress have been apprised of this strategy.

They have been told there is no present intention to send any kind of American fighting forces to Indo-China, and in no event would that be done unless Congress expressly authorizes it.

Such a military action will not be undertaken without first submitting the matter to Congress.

This Administration policy has also been explained in some detail to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The discussion took place at a private meeting with Everett Drumright, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for the Far East. The influential committee wanted to know what is being done to stave off Communist conquest of Indo-China. Security requirements limit what can be disclosed of the information that was presented.

However, the following highlights from the transcript of this session can be published:

The unannounced policy — Drumright, in response to a question by Representative Walter Judd (R., Minn.) expressed belief that there is still a chance to save Indo-China.

"We still have hopes," said the State Department official, "that the area is not necessarily lost to the Communists. The Administration's plan is to get this situation before the United Nations and to call on them to stop this aggression."

Representative Jacob Javits (R., N. Y.) voiced doubt that this would do much good.

"Seems to me," he remarked wryly, "that we aren't doing much galloping in a race that is very fast."

Drumright pointed out that many complications exist, "of which our allies are not the least." Javits retorted that complications had also existed "when President Truman threw our forces into Korea."

"Yes, but I believe that was a little easier," contended Drumright. "For one thing, there was a UN Commission in Korea that reported immediately on that aggression. Further, it was much easier to bring that case before the UN than the one in Indo-China. Secretary Dulles is working literally around-the-clock trying to get our allies to support such action."

Judd asked bluntly what may happen if the situation gets out of hand in Indo-China.

"We would immediately shift our aid to the other nations in that region and try to halt the aggression before it reaches Thailand, Burma, etc.," replied Drumright. "But I want to repeat that we still have hopes of stopping the Communists in Indo-China. Our steps may appear to be slow, but I assure you we do have a great sense of urgency regarding this situation in the State Department."

Judd argued with Drumright over the timing of the move to seek UN intervention.

"We should have taken this to the UN when the Communists started to cut Laos in two and got to the Thailand border," Judd contended. "That was a clear-cut act of aggression against Laos and a breach of the peace. But what happened? Secretary Dulles pooh-poohed the matter. He said it wasn't serious at all. Now the people are being told an entirely different story, and you can't blame them if they don't believe you."

Tough Problem—The complexities of the grim situation in Indo-China are many and difficult.

Graphically illustrative of that was the private talk Secretary of State Dulles had with a group of Senate leaders. Republican Floor Leader William Knowland, Calif., was sharply critical of the French for "clinging to colonialism." He held the French were refusing to give Indo-China independence because of fear of repercussions in Morocco.

"Has France yet offered any form of independence that is acceptable to the Associated States of Indo-China?" asked Senator Theodore Green (D., R.I.).

"Yes, that has been done and largely under the stimulation of the United States," replied Dulles. "All our advice is that pretty complete independence has now been made available by the French. The treaties of independence have yet to be signed, but they have been initiated."

"You say 'pretty complete independence,'" persisted Green. "Just what is that?" The question is, have these people been offered independence in their meaning of the word, or in the French meaning? There could be a very big difference."

"It must be kept in mind," explained Dulles, "that conditions in Indo-China are not wholly favorable to giving total independence to a people who have no experience in exercising it or operating independent political institutions. Total independence would look very nice on paper, but I doubt whether it would last more than a few weeks in Indo-China."

"That was a clear-cut act of aggression against Laos and a breach of the peace. But what happened? Secretary Dulles pooh-poohed the matter. He said it wasn't serious at all. Now the people are being told an entirely different story, and you can't blame them if they don't believe you."

Tough Problem—The complexities of the grim situation in Indo-China are many and difficult.

Graphically illustrative of that was the private talk Secretary of State Dulles had with a group of Senate leaders. Republican Floor Leader William Knowland, Calif., was sharply critical of the French for "clinging to colonialism." He held the French were refusing to give Indo-China independence because of fear of repercussions in Morocco.

"Has France yet offered any form of independence that is acceptable to the Associated States of Indo-China?" asked Senator Theodore Green (D., R.I.).

"Yes, that has been done and largely under the stimulation of the United States," replied Dulles. "All our advice is that pretty complete independence has now been made available by the French. The treaties of independence have yet to be signed, but they have been initiated."

"You say 'pretty complete independence,'" persisted Green. "Just what is that?" The question is, have these people been offered independence in their meaning of the word, or in the French meaning? There could be a very big difference."

"It must be kept in mind," explained Dulles, "that conditions in Indo-China are not wholly favorable to giving total independence to a people who have no experience in exercising it or operating independent political institutions. Total independence would look very nice on paper, but I doubt whether it would last more than a few weeks in Indo-China."

Drumright pointed out that many complications exist, "of which our allies are not the least." Javits retorted that complications had also existed "when President Truman threw our forces into Korea."

"Yes, but I believe that was a little easier," contended Drumright. "For one thing, there was a UN Commission in Korea that reported immediately on that aggression. Further, it was much easier to bring that case before the UN than the one in Indo-China. Secretary Dulles is working literally around-the-clock trying to get our allies to support such action."

Judd asked bluntly what may happen if the situation gets out of hand in Indo-China.

"We would immediately shift our aid to the other nations in that region and try to halt the aggression before it reaches Thailand, Burma, etc.," replied Drumright. "But I want to repeat that we still have hopes of stopping the Communists in Indo-China. Our steps may appear to be slow, but I assure you we do have a great sense of urgency regarding this situation in the State Department."

Judd argued with Drumright over the timing of the move to seek UN intervention.

"We should have taken this to the UN when the Communists started to cut Laos in two and got to the Thailand border," Judd contended. "That was a clear-cut act of aggression against Laos and a breach of the peace. But what happened? Secretary Dulles pooh-poohed the matter. He said it wasn't serious at all. Now the people are being told an entirely different story, and you can't blame them if they don't believe you."

Dulles First Sect. Of State Since '33 To Understand Communist Menace

John Foster Dulles often raises his speeches above the mediocrity which is so current these days. It would seem that the speech advisers of most of our great men believe that the more pedestrian a public official the more popular he will be. On the other hand, over-simplification can lead to such distortions as to cause confusion by the unmodified terms used and the lack of full explanations.

In all the current concentration on Communism and anti-Communism, one of the most misunderstood statements is J. Edgar Hoover's figure that the Communist Party membership is down to 25,000. The Director of the FBI also stated that never before was the situation as regards Communists in this country so serious. The second part of the statement has gone unnoticed, but the figure 25,000 has been used in the McCarthy-Stevens hearings to give the impression that the Communist conspiracy is no longer a menace. Actually, the party has purged itself of weak and doubtful members and the espionage groups are under other than party control.

In his Caracas speech, John Foster Dulles painted the picture with photographic accuracy when he said:

"We, here in the Americas, are not impure from that threat of Soviet imperialism. There is not a single country in this hemisphere which has not been penetrated by the apparatus of international Communism, acting under orders from Moscow. No one of us knows fully the extent of that conspiracy. From time to time parts are detected and exposed."

Mr. Dulles went on to say that the earliest post-war exposure was by the Canadian Royal Commission. He might have said that the first exposure was made in the United States by Dr. William Wirt, the educator from Gary, Indiana, and then by the House Committee on Un-American Activities under the chairmanship of Martin Dies. It was this committee which eventually unearthed the Whittaker Chambers - Alger Hiss situation that led to the Hiss trials and conviction that so startled the American people. Dulles added:

"In the United States there has been a succession of exposures and judicial convictions which prove international Communism plots against our form of government. I venture to say every delegate here knows of similar activities within his own country which are being conducted from Moscow or way stations."

"This Communist conspiracy is not to be taken lightly . . ."

Those, therefore, who accept the assumption that because the Communist Party now only has 25,000 members it is not effective make a serious mistake that requires correction. The menace is now even greater than in the 1930's because the party is largely underground and because it is no longer, in any respect, an international party in the sense that its constituent members have a voice in its management; it has become strictly an arm of Soviet imperialism, directly managed and solely controlled by the Kremlin. When Jacques Duclos, the Frenchman, sends congratulations to Ho Chi Minh, the enemy of France, he speaks not as a Frenchman but as a Russian, serving Russian policy.

It must be recalled, in this connection, that it was Dulles who gave the American Communist Party notice in 1945 to rid itself of Earl Browder, whose Communist Political Association was strongly affected by American nationalism. Such Communists as Dulles act as Russian agents. This marks the major difference between the Comintern and the Soviet Universal State, with which we are now engaged in an inescapable type of war. A characteristic of this type of war is political infiltration into an enemy country.

The Latin American phase of this problem has been serious for many years, as early as when Constantine Oumansky, who was killed in an airplane accident on January 25, 1945, was operating in that area. That the Russians have at all been successful is due in no small measure to the refusal of the American Government and people to take the Soviet drive in every Latin American country seriously. It can be said that John Foster Dulles is the first Secretary of State since 1933 who has understood this problem and taken it seriously enough to try to deal with it realistically. But the habit of not being realistic about it is strong in the land. Latin America may turn out to be our most serious problem.

One-fourth of all housewives in the United States don't have any recipes at all. Of those who do have recipes, about one-third haven't used one in the past six months.

Why is it that the same fellow who gives a ten dollar tip to the headwaiter in a night club will put a fifty cent piece in the collection plate of his church on Sunday?

Why is it that the same woman who spends two hundred dollars on a flimsy evening dress will kick like a mule because the price of tomatoes has gone up another penny?

Why is it that a man who makes fifty or a hundred thousand dollars a year will vote against a raise in salary for our teachers?

Why is it that a Milton Berle or a Jack Gleason can earn a six-figure salary while the minister of my little church has to be satisfied with a low four-figure one?

I'll tell you why. Because, for some unknown reason, the world is always willing to pay more for pleasure than for any other commodity.

Virtue, as we all know, is supposed to be its OWN reward. That is an age-old principle.

But nobody has ever maintained that virtue should be its ONLY reward.

There certainly should be a few extra dollars for the people who lead us on the right path, and all our money should not be reserved for those whose business it is to lead us successfully into temptation or merely to divert us.

Take your teachers, for example. They receive ridiculously low stipends almost everywhere in our country.

They work long hours, often have to do all sorts of extra chores, and are expected to be examples of good manners, good behavior and high morality.

For that we pay them barely enough to keep body and soul together, and what we do pay them we give them with an air of municipal condescension.

Now let the teacher raise his voice and start to fight for more money. Immediately he is accused of being a rebel, a bad influence on our children—even a Communist.

Absence of world champion U.S. visiting chess team brings rumors he's been purged. However, in chess the word isn't "purged," it's check-mated.

Men's styles follow political trends, says a clothes designer. That's right—look what Ike did for the homburg hat.

That banana worker strike down in Honduras has got Juniper upset. He claims he can't eat his breakfast cereal "plain."

A speed record of 421 miles per hour was set by an Air Force officer riding a rocket-powered sled. That Air Force of ours certainly gets around—even when it's on the ground.

South Africa has sent three entries to the California frog-jumping tournament. That's quite a hop, itself.

It's surprising the citizens of Geneva don't suffer permanent earaches—what with all those international conferences taking

Mrs. Reimel, 81, Expires At Neola

NEOLA — Mrs. Jennie Reimel, widow of Stewart Reimel, who served as a Monroe County commissioner, died yesterday at her home here. She was 81. Mrs. Reimel had been in ill health a number of years, seriously ill since January.

Bangor Elks Hold Annual Flag Services

BANGOR — Wilbur Warner of Leighton, past president of the Pennsylvania Elks Association, was the guest speaker at the annual Elks' Flag Day services at their lodge Sunday night. His subject was "Turn in the Road", in which he stressed the importance of the nation's battles to maintain liberty. Mr. Warner was introduced by John L. Williams, exalted ruler.

Over 100 people attended the services, among whom were representatives of various civic and fraternal groups and uniformed members of Dyle E. Bray Post, VFW; E. H. Evans Post, American Legion, of Bangor, and Martucci-Capobianco Post, American Legion, of Roseto. Rev. Joseph Illig, C.M., of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church of Bangor, gave the invocation and the benediction. Burgess Hayden B. Pritchard made remarks.

THE SERVICE marked the first public appearance of the newly formed Elks Octet. Mrs. Margaret Remagen and Mr. John J. Jones were soloists, with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Avery, Mrs. John Mazza, Mrs. Thomas W. Jones, Gordon Roberts, and Lemuel Davis also in the group. Charles Steinmetz was pianist, Harold Rice was trumpet soloist.

James Drury was accompanist for the Flag Day ritual directed by Mr. Williams.

Other officers taking part in the ritual were Ellsworth Morris, John Dorsey, Joseph Ricca, James Gaffney, Clyde Hulsizer, Thomas W. Jones, chaplain, offered prayer, and gave the response to George Remagen's "History of the Flag". The committee in charge of arrangements was Joseph Ricca, chairman, George Trewin, James Gaffney, Russell Shook and Albert Shiley.

Announcement Released By Robert Collins

ROBERT H. COLLINS, head of the D. Katz & Sons Plumbing and Heating division, announced yesterday his firm has been named authorized distributor for the National Airoil Burner Co., manufacturers of industrial oil burners, gas burners and furnace equipment.

The National Airoil Burner Co. is one of the nation's oldest and most experienced oil burner designing and manufacturing organizations, he said. Nairoil burners and furnace equipment have been installed throughout the United States and in many foreign countries.

Mr. Collins pointed out National Airoil Burner Co. was one of the 13 organizers of the American Oil Burner Institute association, now known as the Oil Heat Institute.

OTHER NATIONAL products include steam atomizing, mechanical atomizing, rotary and low air pressure industrial oil burners to 700-gallon per hour capacity. Also industrial gas burners and combination gas and oil burners.

More than 40 years of accumulated experience in designing and manufacturing enables National to offer buyers the outstanding oil burner on the market today, Collins emphasized.

Its principle of operation is neither experimental nor new, he said. It is one that has been tried and proved, and is well known to installers and service men—high pressure mechanical atomization.

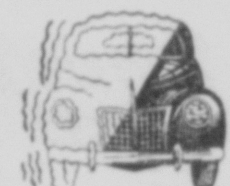

Every part of the Nairoil Automatic Oil Burner has been designed to coordinate with all other parts for quiet, efficient, dependable operation.

EXCEPTIONALLY easy to service, it embodies every safety feature required by local authorities throughout the United States.

The Nairoil Automatic Oil Burner gives the homeowner economical, trouble-free operation, minimum maintenance and long service—at a moderate price that makes oil heat at its best available to every home.

Proof of National's superior pro-

Couple To Receive Annual Barrett Award Wednesday

MOUNTAINHOME — A large gathering of Barrett Township friends, neighbors and fellow-workers will honor Lillian L. and Andrew W. Lewis at a banquet and program in Onawa Lodge on Wednesday at 7:15 p.m.

They are to receive the township's fourth annual appreciation plaque in recognition of almost two score years of diversified contributions to their community. The occasion, which is sponsored by all of the civic, patriotic and church groups of Barrett Township, will also be attended by many from the Stroudsburgs and other parts of the county.

Mr. Lewis came to Barrett in 1937 as supervising principal of Barrett Consolidated School. Two years later he married Lillian Legro, and together they have rendered distinguished service in many phases of community work. They have both served on the Barrett Welfare Fund for several years.

MR. LEWIS was first campaign chairman for the Fund when it was organized by Clifford R. Gilliam, Buck Hill Falls, who introduced the first Community Chest in Monroe County. When Mr. Gilliam resigned in 1951, Mr. Lewis became president and served in this capacity until 1953. He has also served on the county boards of Community Chest and Red Cross, and both he and his wife have been campaign managers of the Barrett Township Red Cross drives.

In addition to being an executive of the township's Welfare Fund, Mr. Lewis serves on a number of member agencies of the chest, including the Playgroup Committee, Troop Committee member of Boy Scout Troop 89 since 1940, Troop Committee member of Brownie Troop 4 organized this year, and he has been a member of the board of the Neighborhood Association since 1940. Mrs. Lewis is a member of the Girl Scout Board of Monroe County, having served as secretary from 1947 to 1950, and registrar during the 1950 term.

MR. LEWIS is a charter member and past president of the Pocono Mountains Rotary Club, which will attend the award banquet in a body with their wives. He is also a member and past president of Pennsylvania State Education Association, Monroe County Branch, and a member of the Evans-Blitz Post of American Legion, Barrett Township. He is a member and past master of J. Simpson Africa Lodge 628, P. and AM, and belongs to the Board of Governors, Barrett Branch YMCA.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are active in the work of the Canadensis Methodist Church where Mr. Lewis has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1940, and was charge lay leader from 1950 to 1954. He was recently elected to the position of exhorter of the church. Mrs. Lewis has been choir director, is a member and past secretary of its Sewing Circle, a Sunday School teacher, and chairman and member of many money-raising committees of the church.

ONE OF MRS. LEWIS' first civic activities in Barrett was program chairman of the Barrett Woman's Club from 1940 until 1942. Later she served as its president during the 1947-1948 term. Since then she has served a term as secretary and has been active on many of the club's committees. She is also a member of the Legion Auxiliary of Evans-Blitz Post.

Until this year, each has served on the Appreciation Week Committee since it was inaugurated in 1951.

Mr. Lewis received his early schooling in Scranton, his parents being John P. and Beida Lewis. After his completion of eighth grade there, his family moved to East Stroudsburg where he attended East Stroudsburg High School. He went on to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, graduating in 1930 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree, and accepted the position of mathematics instructor in East Stroudsburg High School. In 1932, in addition to his teaching assignment, he became assistant principal. While teaching at the high school, he matriculated at Columbia University where he received his Master's Degree in 1937.

Lillian Legro was born in Pittsfield, Mass., the daughter of Lillian and the late Elmer Legro. She entered Ithaca, New York Conservatory of Music upon graduation from Pittsfield High School in 1926. In 1930 she was graduated from the conservatory with a bachelor of Music degree; later she took advance work at New York and Columbia Universities and received her Bachelor of Science degree at New York University. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority.

Tickets for the award banquet may be obtained from any of the service or civic clubs of the township, or from Mrs. Harold Gravel,

Munich At Gunpoint France's Possible Fate; Political Paralysis Plays Into Red Hands

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

THE WORLD atmosphere in this summer of 1954 is strangely and terribly like that of the summer of 1939.

In those days, Adolf Hitler was refusing President Roosevelt's suggestions for negotiations. In those days the Kremlin is all for negotiations, but not to the point of letting them accomplish anything.

France faces the possibility of a Munich at gunpoint, and this time the guns are not merely threatening, but already firing.

THE COMMUNISTS have accomplished one of their great aims at Geneva—to create a situation which would split the Allies and bring down the only French government which had shown any signs of being able to obtain ratification of the European Defense Community.

Pierre Mendes-France, a man who would consign Indochina to a fate similar to that of Czechoslovakia in 1938, has been commissioned to form a new French government, although this is believed to be a step by President Coty to get Mendes-France beaten and out of the way before the battle over composition of a new government really begins.

THE COMMUNISTS appeared determined to make military capital of the French political paralysis by capturing all of northern Indochina—perhaps all of Indochina—while Britain and the United States were immobilized by the lack of anyone with whom to deal on further defense measures.

Over a long period of years—ever since the Japanese occupation of Indochina during World War II—the estimate of American strategic experts has been that the United States would have to fight for the rest of Southeast Asia.

Today the nation is faced with the prospect that it may have to either reaffirm or abandon this estimate within the next few weeks.

IT IS ALSO faced with the prospect that the "agonizing reappraisal" promised Europe by John Foster Dulles if EDC failed of early ratification may have to come very soon.

The necessity for batten down the hatches in Europe is intensified by the Asiatic situation. The job of batten down was moving more slowly than ever.

Western Germany stands as a military vacuum, inviting trouble, while France talks of the impossibility that she should send to Indochina the troops she might need for the "defense of Paris."

IT WAS almost inevitable that, if Europe failed to work out its own system, and quickly, the United States would move to do something about the German vacuum some other way, as she did in Japan.

There is no prediction of an early general war. But talks of "dangerous," "hideous," and "portentious" decisions to come is rife in the world's chancelleries.

Russia is still believed to want several years of industrial preparation before a war, meanwhile pressing economic strain and political disunity on the free world in the hope of victory by infiltration rather than all out war.

BUT THE ALLIES were faced with decision on whether they could permit any further Communist mobilization, in Europe, in Asia or in Latin-America, without giving the Kremlin assurance of victory if or when it does decide on war.

North Americans took to their air raid shelters Monday in a practice drill that for some was grim, but for most was facetious. But, out beyond the horizon for most of them, the real thunderheads were rolling up, and the clear, cold wind of reason which might dispel them was nowhere in sight.

Bathrooms were in use by the Egyptians about 2,000 years B.C. old Ranger's Inn, with 30 members and two guests in attendance.

Due to the illness of Miss Jennie Wilson, the presiding officer was Floyd Florey, vice president.

Mrs. Mabel Luckey, secretary, and Mrs. Helen Blank, treasurer, were unable to attend, so their reports were read by Mrs. Erma Meyers.

GUEST SPEAKERS included Fred Miller, district manager of the Hawley-Honesdale District of the Penna. Power & Light Co. and E. C. Pyle, district forester of the Delaware area of Forests and Waters. Mr. Miller spoke of street lighting and Mr. Pyle reported on picnic areas.

Three new members were accepted, making a total of 43 members now in the organization.

Following the meeting, a lunch was served.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HIGHWAY ROBBER

Billy the Kid and Jesse James were pikers. The speeder behind the wheel of the modern car is more dangerous than all the highway robbers who ever lived.

Public Enemy Number 1 today is speed. It is the common denominator of death and injury on our highways.

No matter how young or how old the driver, how experienced or inexperienced, the chances of death in case of a traffic accident are infinitely greater if he is going too fast.

Yes, the greatest highway robber of life and limb on our highways is speed. Arrest your speed, drive well within posted speed limits. Make 1954 the safest year ever. Slow down and live.

This message in the interest of highway safety is one of a series prepared and disseminated by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association and the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue.

School Vacations Without Headaches; Here's How Community Meets Vandalism Problem

By A. VERNON DAVIS
Central Press Correspondent
HAGERSTOWN, Md. — A group of civic-minded businessmen and housewives here have parlayed a neighborhood idea into a community wide program that could well serve as a model for other towns and cities faced with the usual summertime rise in juvenile vandalism.

Each weekday an average of well over 1,000 youngsters — "unemployed" during the time that school is out for the summer — are given an opportunity to participate in supervised games, contests and craft work.

The bill for this ambitious and ever-growing program is handled on a neighborhood basis and is not reflected in the local real estate tax rate.

OPERATING and basic equipment costs are paid through the Community Chest. However, many of the everyday needs are taken care of by businessmen, housewives and just plain friends of the children.

One playground in the poorer section of town, for example, has been sort of adopted by the local Jewish congregation. Over a period this group has been purchasing sliding boards, chinning bars, basketball equipment, etc., for this particular playground.

IN ANOTHER part of the city, where a low-rent housing project was recently completed, housewives have banded together to serve as supervisors to conduct the games and contests at this latest addition to the summer playground system.

There was not enough money in this year's playground budget to employ supervisors for the new playground, but the mothers of the area felt the need was so great that they have volunteered their services.

It was in 1937 that the idea for a city-wide summer playground program got its start here.

A handful of businessmen and housewives started the ball rolling. After getting permission from public officials for the use of school playgrounds, open fields and sections of the public parks, the playground group started making the rounds among the business interests of the community.

CASH DONATIONS were used to hire experienced adults for supervising the playgrounds and to buy some additional playground equipment.

Later, as the need for supervised play for youngsters during the summer months was realized by more leaders in the town, a formal Hagerstown playground committee was established. It was included in the budget of the Community Chest and small annual contributions were made by the city and county governments. Individual contributions and physical assistance have continued.

Today there are over a dozen playgrounds in operation here during the no-school months. Each playground has a trained games supervisor and an experienced craft instructor. Total enrollment this summer is 1,675 children.

DAILY FEATURES for the youngsters include horseshoe contests, baby shows, hobby and doll shows, competitive games, and craft exhibits. Many features are scheduled to stress inter-play ground competition.

It is hoped that arrangements can be worked out with the city so that each and every child will get a free swim at the municipal pool one morning a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Timothy Kane

Myrtle Getz, Joseph Kane Wed at St. Matthew's Church

Miss Myrtle Mary Getz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Getz, 521 Oak St., East Stroudsburg, and Joseph Timothy Kane, son of Mrs. Margaret Kane, of 56 North Kistler St., East Stroudsburg and the late Jerome Kane were married on Saturday morning at 11 a. m. at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church.

Rev. Francis Barrett performed the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white vases of snapdragons. Sprays of white gladiolas and mums decorated the end of the pews. Mrs. William Hannas was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace vorestin. It was fashioned with an illusion neckline and bertha collar of lace. The tucked bodice had long tulle sleeves with lace ruffles at the wrist, and the bouffant skirt was trimmed with three tiers of lace. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a half cap trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. She carried a prayer book with an orchid marker.

Mrs. Floyd Getz Jr., of Jamesburg, N. J., was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of pink lace and nylon net with a matching jacket and headpiece and carried colonial bouquet of blue carnations with baby breath.

The bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Secor, of 219 East Broad St., and Mrs. June Staples, of Bushkill, Pa. Their gowns were of blue lace and nylon net with matching jackets. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and baby breath.

Richard Kane, of North Kistler St., served as his brother's best man. The ushers were Floyd Getz Jr., of Jamesburg, N. J., and Robert Henry, Brodhead Ave., East Stroudsburg.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue nylon with navy blue and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception for about 175 guests was held at the VFW, decorated with white streamers and bells. The table was decorated with a three-tier cake surrounded by a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Leaving on their wedding tour, the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

They will make their home at Pocono Summit. The bride is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1953 and has been employed in Dr. W. R. Toewe's office. Mr. Kane also attended East Stroudsburg High School and is employed at Haynes Motors, Stroudsburg.

SHOPPER

Some of our cutest—and certainly most welcome—customers are the youngsters who come in these days in search of Father's Day presents. They approach you with such queries as, "What can I get my Pop for 39c?" or "Do you think my father would like a souvenir pencil?" You stop whatever you've been doing and try and round up 39c gift suggestions, or encourage them to buy a handkerchief rather than a pencil with a felt penant from the Pocono Mountains.

It's fun to serve these youngsters, because all of them are so dead serious about their shopping. Believe me, they want value—after all, if they can save a nickel here or there, it's just that much more toward an ice cream cone or a candy bar. Dad's a great guy all right, but why run wild with one's money when there's so much that his very own son can enjoy?

Dottie Sturdevant tells me that one of her most frustrating experiences occurred this past Saturday at the very moment she was up to her neck in business. A little fellow had debated for a long time at the greeting card rack, and finally decided to salute Dad in a big way. He selected a card for 50 cents that told in rippling poetry the virtues of his father, and when Dottie discovered that he hadn't the penny tax, she generously offered to take care of the shortage personally. The sale was made and the customer went happily on his way, only to return a few minutes later, requesting a refund. He'd decided to give Pop socks instead.

Dottie's sense of humor took over as she filled out the refund slip, and she couldn't help smiling as she talked about it. But at the time she could probably have done without the extra paper work. However, the fact remains that children are among our most discriminating shoppers. They have just so much to work with and they want the most for their money. Even if Dad might not appreciate a felt penant from the Poconos attached to his pencil, the 12-year old purchaser is sure when he buys that it is worth every cent of the twenty-five with which he is parting.

Sometimes I think the younger we are, the more careful we are in weighing our purchases. This is true of other people's children, at any rate. Now my own—I Well, that's different. I am sure that they are gullible. The stuff they trot home is proof enough that they'll buy anything if it's gaudy enough, or noisy enough, to catch their eyes or ears. That's why I encourage them to buy at Wyckoff's. "Go to the jewelry department," I say, "and ask Mrs. Harmon for an idea." Or "Ask for Mr. Altemus in the men's shop. He'll know what would be nice."

Of course, they don't always agree with our sales staff. They may think Mrs. Harmon slightly off beam for not selling them a silver anklet chain for Mother, or at least a pair of chandelier earrings. And they may find Mr. Altemus a bit fuddy duddy for thinking Dad would prefer a necktie to off beam for not selling them an admitted that Mom and Dad aren't so sharp either—so a fellow might just as well waste his money on some dumb thing the old fogies will like.

Son Surprises Mother With Birthday Party

Delaware Water Gap — Mrs. Donald Quick considered the fact that her son Richard was home after an LST boat trip to other Mediterranean countries as gift enough for her birthday. She was reckoning without Richard, however.

He arranged a surprise birthday in her honor. When she and her husband came home from a visit to the cemetery, she found the house in darkness. The lights revealed the guests who had gathered in their absence.

Those present were Mrs. Quick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Friend Albers of Delaware Water Gap; her brother William Fish, and Mrs. Fish and children, Ronnie and Barbara; her sister, Mrs. George Henry, Mr. Henry and their daughter, Judith Ann, of East Stroudsburg; her son, Richard and his wife, her son, Stephen Quick, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wolbert and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Quick and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Decker, of Stroudsburg.

Richard was scheduled to leave on Sunday for Norfolk, Va., for future assignment.

Herbert Stiff Is Academy Grad

Mount Pocono — Cadet Herbert Stiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stiff, of Burlington, N. J., and grandson of Mrs. Herbert Stiff, Sterling Rd., this place, was graduated from Admiral Farragut Academy, Pine Beach, N. J., on June 6.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Brodell, of the borough, and Edwin Lucas, of Hyattsville, Md., attended the exercises with Cadet Stiff's parents. The group also attended the headmaster's reception and the other activities planned for parents and friends.

The bison is the largest native American animal now in existence.

Portland Girl Scouts Summer Activities

Portland — The Girl Scouts of Portland's Troop 37 are planning a hike and cook-out on Saturday, June 12 at the Ritter Farm, in Mount Bethel, planned by Mrs. Robert Carr, Mrs. Horace Russell and Mrs. Raymond Scott.

It will be the first of the special activities which will take the place of the regular meetings during the summer. Other plans include a bike hike, a swim party, a foot-traveler hike, baseball game, dramatics and badge activities.

At the troop meeting, members were able to see themselves in color in pictures taken by Rev. Elias Jones at an earlier meeting. The patrols have been holding individual meetings working on their badge requirements. One of the patrols working on their clothing and sewing badges under the direction of Mrs. Raymond committee member, Mrs. Horace Russell and Miss Harriet Wagner. The troop met at the home of Mrs. James Weidman Jr.

The Patrols patrol met at the Scott home later to continue on clothing and dancer badge work. Kary Ribble recently became a member of the Portland troop.

Eleanor Durland At Confirmation

Pocono Lake — Miss Eleanor Durland attended the confirmation services of her niece, Miss Judy Siffes, at the Lutheran Trinity Church in Nutley, N. J., on June 6. Following the confirmation Mr. and Mrs. Siffes held a party for their daughter for about 65 guests at their home. Miss Siffes received many gifts.

Local Women On Women's Med. College Group

Mrs. Harold MacMurray and Mrs. Harry L. Shinnen, members of the Commonwealth Committee of The Woman's Medical College of Pa. were among sixty state leaders who attended the Second Annual Meeting of the group on June 9-10.

This state-wide Board, composed of more than 100 women leaders in the Commonwealth are the Keystone Division of the Nat'l Council of the College of which Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower is Honorary Chairman. Their function is to be "Ambassadors of Goodwill" in the furtherance of medical education for women at this more than a century old institution, that today is the only such College on this hemisphere. Founded by Quakers in 1850, the College has graduated more than 2,300 women physicians, many of whom have been pioneers in areas of distinguished service.

There may be as many as three million termite in a single colony.

Sara Mae Messerle Has Birthday Party

Bushkill — A surprise birthday party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Messerle, Bushkill, in honor of their daughter, Sara Mae. She received many gifts and cards.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Messerle, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Staples, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Messerle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Ladlee, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Messerle, Arthur Myers, Richard Ladlee, Kerry Messerle, Deane Hendricks, Marlys Messerle, Jim Myers, Mary Ann Howey, Roseann Messerle, Frank Messerle Jr., Harold Ace.

Cut raw carrots and celery in pieces about the same size; cook together in a small amount of boiling salted water just until tender. Drain and add to a well-seasoned cream sauce, turn into a casserole, top with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven or under the broiler. Delicious for a company meal featuring roast beef or lamb; good with chicken or duck, too.

Shawnee, Pocono Manor To Be Represented In National Open Golf Play Beginning Thursday

Golfers and golfing fans of Monroe County will have their eyes and ears glued in the direction of Baltusrol Country Club, Springfield, N. J., where the National Open will be played this week.

Open rounds will be played on Thursday, with the tournament coming to an end on Sunday.

Al Nelson, one of three Californians on the Shawnee Country Club professional staff, will make his debut in the Open on Thursday. The 24-year-old good looking shot maker qualified for the Open in Philadelphia last week.

Nelson is scheduled to tee-off on Thursday at 9:44 a. m., playing with Furman Hayes, Gastonia, N. C., and Joby Connor, Verona, Pa.

On Friday Nelson is scheduled to leave the tee at 1:20 p. m.

Art Wall, colorful touring pro from Pocono Manor, is also slated to play his opening round on Thursday. The Honesdale native departs from the first tee at 12:08 p. m. He will be accompanied by Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, and Bob Inman, Tulsa, Okla.

Wall's second round action on Friday is slated to begin at 8:32 p. m. The Wayne County star is the current Tournament of Champions king and is 30 years old.

Art qualified for the Open in Cincinnati last week after playing in the Western Open. He tied for fourth place in the Virginia Beach Open which closed on Sunday.

A total of 200 golfers will be taking part in this World Series in golf. The group includes the best professional and amateur golfers in the country.

Mt. Pocono Runs Wild Over Barrett Rotary Rival, 24-8

Mountainhome—Mt. Pocono Rotary remained tied for first place with Pocono Lions in the Pocono Mountains Little League last night by scoring a 24-8 victory over Barrett Rotary, here at Siglin field.

Mt. Pocono, showing its power in five of the six innings played, failed to score only in the fourth frame.

The visiting club lifted the lid on the game with six markers in the first inning, two in the second and then broke the contest wide open with an even dozen tallies in the third.

Mt. Pocono came back with a pair of insurance tallies in the fifth frame.

Barrett Lions	1	6	.143	5

and the same number in the sixth and final frame.

Barrett enjoyed a six-run outburst in the fourth, but it wasn't nearly enough to change the complexion of the game.

Although Barrett Rotary was held to only eight hits, half of them were credited to Sam Jones, Jones lashed out three doubles and one single to carry off individual offensive honors.

Nine Barrett errors and 15 Mt. Pocono hits were mixed into the winning tonic.

Monta Strong, manager of the Mt. Pocono club, announced following the game that Mt. Pocono had been awarded a forfeit victory over Pocono Lions last Saturday.

Mt. Pocono and Pocono Lions were rained out of action on Thursday and the game was rescheduled for Saturday, but the Lions failed to put in an appearance on the field. The umpires then awarded the verdict to Mt. Pocono.

Pocono Lions Roll Over Barrett Foe

Pocono Pines — Pocono Lions, one of the powers in the Pocono Mountains Little League, scored only three innings last night but did enough damage to inflict a 15-5 victory over Barrett Lions.

The game was played here on the Tobyhanna Township High school athletic field.

Pocono Lions broke the game wide open with eight runs in the second stanza and was in front the remainder of the distance.

The host club, currently tied for first place in the standings, went on to score once in the fourth and six times in the fifth to take all doubt out of the contest.

Barrett tried to make it close at the end but failed, even though the visiting contingent picked up two tallies in the fourth and three more in the sixth.

George Slifess pitched the entire game for Pocono Lions and limited Barrett to six hits.

Pocono Lions lashed out 17 safeties and took advantage of eight Barrett errors to win without trouble.

Frank Altomero homered for the home team in the fifth and Barry Oliver slammed a four bagger in a losing cause in the fourth.

Leighton Coach Killed In Auto Crash

Myers Suffers Fatal Injuries In Canada

Gravenhurst, Ont. — Jim Myers, hard working Leighton (Pa.) high school football coach, was killed near here in an automobile accident yesterday according to an Associated Press release received last night.

A woman companion was injured when Myers' 1953 automobile collided with a transport truck that jackknifed on the road in front of it, police said.

The woman, Mrs. Gladys Mahaffey, described as a young widow, was admitted to hospital in Bracebridge, about 12 miles north of this Muskoka District community 100 miles north of Toronto. Hospital officials said her condition is not serious.

Police said a southbound Baraniff transport truck from Kitchener slowed to avoid striking a car ahead of it and jackknifed suddenly. They said the Pennsylvania car crashed into it. No one in the truck was injured.

Myers completed his second football season at Leighton with the end of the 1953 campaign. He came to Leighton from Midland, Pa. High and was given the task of lifting Leighton, a Stroudsburg foe and a member of the Lehigh Valley League, from the depths of the football depression.

He coached at Beaver Falls, Pa. and in Ohio before taking over at Midland and later Leighton.

Myers informed friends late last week that he planned to leave Leighton on Saturday and pick up his girl friend in Pittsburgh. They planned to take a trip through Canada this week.

Leighton grid machines hadn't any winning seasons under Myers, but he was laying the groundwork and vast improvement was noted between the first and second seasons.

Radler To Face Roseto For Pocono A. C. Today

Pocono A. C., still smarting from a 2-0 defeat at the hands of Johnsonville at Gordon Giffels field on Sunday, will attempt to bounce back in the win column today against Roseto, on the latter's home field.

This Blue Mountain League contest was originally slated earlier in the season and was washed off the books at that time. The game will get under way at 6:15 p.m.

Frank Radler, manager of the Stroudsburg Poconos when the class "D" North Atlantic League was still in operation and a right handed hurler with plenty of professional experience, will make his pitching debut for Pocono A. C. today.

Manager Bill Frear announced last night that he would be stationed at third base in place of Art Schaare. Schaare will be unable to make the trip due to the illness of his daughter.

The center field post is a toss up between Al Adelman and Bob Smith, Frear revealed late last night.

Otherwise the lineup is set with Russ Staples doing the catching; Randy Morris on first base; Paul "Doc" Lim, second base; Harold White, shortstop; Fred "Satch" Gahres, left field, and Dave Nevil, right field.

Pocono A. C. won a hard fought 8-6 victory over Roseto at Giffels field last Wednesday.

Dave "Doc" Schiavone will probably hurl for Roseto today.

Martins Creek and Johnsonville play on the latter's home field in the other Blue Mountain League encounter on tap today.

Indians Slam Red Sox To Increase Lead

Boston (AP) — Cleveland stretched its American League lead to two games yesterday by banging out 22 hits as Bob Lemon and Ray Narleski defeated the Boston Red Sox 13-5 for a sweep of the five-game series.

The Tribe climaxed its assault—a season's high for hits—with a six-run fifth inning in which George Strickland and Al Smith hit back to back home runs.

Strickland's drive into the left-field screen at the foot of a light standard accounted for three runs. It was his fourth of the year and second of the series. Smith followed with a solo homer, his third of the season.

Only Action
The game was the only action in the league yesterday with the other teams traveling. All clubs resume play today with the eastern clubs appearing in the west.

After loser Bill Henry, troubled with wildness, walked Wally Westlake and Jim Hegan, Lemon aided his own cause with a double into the rightfield corner to drive in the first run of the big fifth.

Strickland and Smith then homered and it was 8-0. Larry Doby added insult to injury by bunting a single down the third base line and Vic Wertz scored him with a two base blow into the rightfield corner.

Stroudsburg National Bank Vaults Into Tie For Third Place By Downing Peoples Coal

First Stroudsburg National Bank continued its display of power in the Stroudsburg Little League last night by scoring a 13-3 decision over Peoples Coal. The baseball game was played on the circuit's official field.

Peoples Coal jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but the Bankers picked up three in the bottom of the initial frame and went on to score almost at will.

The ultimate winner came up with four in the second, two in the third and four more in the fifth. The Bankers missed scoring only in the fourth stanza.

National Bank used nine hits and seven Peoples Coal errors to account for its second victory in three days.

Today's Stroudsburg Little League victory sends Penn-Stroud Hotel against Security Trust, at 6:15 p. m.

Cubs Nip Pirates, 6-5

Pittsburgh (AP) — Hank Sauer's 20th homer in the eighth with Ralph Kiner on base as the result of a leadoff single, gave the Chicago Cubs the runs they needed last night to edge the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5 in a loosely played game.

Sauer's homer was his first hit in 22 trips to the plate.

The Pirates committed four errors and the Cubs two. Two of the Pirate miscues figured prominently in the scoring.

After Sauer's blast had given the Cubs a three-run lead, the Pirates came back with two runs in the eighth. Paul Minner, the third Cub pitcher, put out the fire as he got Luis Marquez to hit into a double play when the Bucs tried to squeeze home the tying run with the bases loaded and one out.

Lower
Max Surkont was charged with the defeat, his seventh against five victories. The victory was credited to starter Jim Davis although he needed relief help. He has a 3-2 record.

Five Trends Hint Business Improvement

HARRISBURG (AP)—Five trends in Pennsylvania economic life were indicated yesterday by a business research expert, indicative of a gradual improvement in business conditions.

Various "leveling off" processes were noted by R. Hadly Waters, analyst for the Business Research Bureau of the Pennsylvania State University.

"No abrupt change is to be expected in the next several months," Waters said, "but minor shifts in the various indicators of business activity should be watched closely for signs of a gradual improvement."

HE LISTED THESE five trends in the Bureau's "Pennsylvania Business Survey" for June: Tapering off by the index of industrial activity, which fell only one point from March to April after sharper drops earlier; the Federal Reserve index ceased to slide and remained unchanged from March to April; the number of new unemployment claims has settled at about 325,000 a week; the total number receiving unemployment compensation has not varied much for the past several months; an average of department store sales for the last seven weeks has been just about even with a year ago.

Connecticut officials say their birth records are the most complete of those kept by the 48 states.

Barr Attacks Exemptions, Tax Policing

HARRISBURG (AP)—Revenue from Pennsylvania's state sales tax has fallen far below estimates because of "too many exemptions and lack of enforcement," Sen. Joseph M. Barr (D-Allegheny) charged yesterday.

The new Democratic state chairman asserted that if tax collection had been functioning smoothly it would not be necessary to hire additional accountants to make spot checks.

He referred to a disclosure by Gov. John S. Fine that Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner will employ 70 to 100 more accountants in a crackdown on tax dodgers.

"THEY'VE GOT PLENTY of accounts already," Barr said. "The trouble is the collections have been made by political appointees who haven't done the work."

Although lagging behind since last Sept. 1 when the one per cent levy went into effect, the sales tax revenue was shown to be far shorter than ever recently. Budget Secretary Edward B. Logan announced it was 19 million dollars behind estimates at the end of the fiscal year on May 31.

It was mainly because of the sales tax shortage that the commonwealth's general fund was running nearly 25 million dollars behind estimates for that period, Logan said. The corporate net income tax also lagged behind.

ANOTHER SHORTCOMING of the sales tax act, Barr said, is that it contains "too many exemptions which were not written into the original act."

Among the numerous exemptions are such every day items as food, clothing and others defined by the 1953 legislature as necessities.

The Democratic Party now is employing a group of "tax experts," Barr said, to look into the question of exemptions along with doing research for the party's platform along taxation lines.

The chairman said he could not say in advance what the taxation plank in the Democratic party's platform will be, but added: "It will not be hypocritical. We will not have a platform as did the Republicans promising no new taxes and then reverse themselves."

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1954
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—It may be necessary to wait matters out—and wait patiently. But keep studying. Think first, so you will not have to make those try's over again.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—You will have to double effort, watch answers and take criticism gracefully. Now is the time for greater success. Wait matters out when necessary.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—This period is favorable to those who are sincere and honest. But you will have to push your cause to get proper results. Discuss matters with associates, friends and loved ones, but do it calmly, tolerantly.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Opportunities today for gains, improved objective. Study first, then act firmly. Observe with your keen, appraising eye; take advantage of modern devices—honesty of course.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—A friendly outlook. Sound judgment, plus poise and your smiling disposition make a winning combination. You can straighten out problems admirably when you try. Check expenses; hold temper.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Approach this day with a critical eye. Make headway safely by moving slowly, especially in money matters. Sentiment must be applied sensibly or you may rue your generosity. Take things in stride.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Don't be hurt, but cooperate for your own good. You may find the key to more satisfying results by being a good listener.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—The position of Mars suggests crisis

Successful bidder should be able to apply material when needed. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

MRS. ISAAC HENNING, Secy.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Commissioners of Monroe County, Pennsylvania will receive sealed bids at their office in the Court House at Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, until 10 A. M. July 1, 1954, at which time bids will be opened for furnishing all labor and materials for exterior painting of the Monroe County House and Farm House and Wash House located in Hamilton Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, in accordance with certain specifications as prepared by Rinker and Kiefer, Registered Architects, Stroudsburg and Monroe, Pa.

The successful bidder is required to enter into a written contract and furnish a bond with approved surety company as provided in specifications. Bids are to be sealed and marked "Sealed Bids for Monroe County House and Farm House" and upon failure to do so, the previous award may be declared void.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check for not less than 5% of the amount of the bid. The certified check will be retained as liquidated damages in case a successful bidder shall neglect or refuse to enter into a written contract in accordance with bid or furnish bond.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within 20 days after the date of opening thereof.

The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Commissioners of Monroe County.
HARRY TAYLOR, Chief Clerk

FLAN SHINN, right, shows John Crandall, general manager of Pocono Manor, material used in making the "Popular Poconos" film for television. Signs were made by Robert Logan and Gerald Brooks, and film was put together in Lawrence Studios, Stroudsburg. Motion picture and still photos were collected by Eastern Pocono Resort Association members from area resort operators, The Daily Record files, and Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce sources. ## Channel 5, New York City, To Telecast Pocono Mountains Film Tonight At 9:50

"POPULAR POCONOS," a 10-minute film booming the vacation praises of this region will be telecast at 9:50 tonight on Channel 5, WABD-Dumont, producer and narrator.

Shinn said last night he hopes all resort, hotel and area business operators whose interests are involved in the resort-vacation industry will make every effort to see the film, produced for four Pocono Mountains associations with film originally provided by Eastern Poconos Resort Association for the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau.

Filmed locally for about $500, the production was taken from still photographs and amateur films in Lawrence Studios, Stroudsburg.

HAROLD SWENSON, executive secretary of Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau said New York professionals estimated it would cost at least $3,000 to produce a first-class professional movie of the same length. If such a job ever is done, he said, funds will have to be raised locally from both resort operators and businessmen whose income is in any way dependent on resort and tourist dollars.

Swenson said the Vacation Bureau directors recently voted $1,000 for TV, which Shinn said would be used to buy TV time and distribute the film this month when it can be most effectively used to stimulate interest in this region.

In addition to tonight's showing, the film will be repeated on Channel 5 Thursday night at 15 minutes past midnight. (Friday at 12:15 a.m.).

TEN MINUTES of TV time normally would cost $800, Shinn said, but a special $450 price was obtained. Tonight's show is being telecast principally so all interested local people can see it, in addition to New York TV viewers. A national sponsor will pay $600 this week for the same late hour spot, but the show costs the local community only $150 for Thursday night.

Future free TV showings in return for free vacations to contest winners, etc., are scheduled for Connecticut, Massachusetts and Washington, D. C., within the next few weeks, it was announced.

Shinn commented "this Pocono publicity effort is microscopic when compared with the job being done by other areas in comparing the $500 spent to build this TV material, and the $1,000 to distribute it."

THE PRODUCER said to the best of his knowledge "the State of Pennsylvania this year has spent nothing on TV; whereas, New York has spent $11,000 producing film strips and is spending $50,000 for TV time." Shinn said this information was provided by Joseph Horan, director of Travel Bureau of New York State.

Shinn said the four area associations cooperating with the program are Eastern Poconos Resort Association which supplied the original thought; Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Top of the Poconos Association and Pocono Vacationlands Association.

Henryville

Mrs. Paul Barry
Phone 1424-R-4

HENRYVILLE — Rev. C. F. Spangenberg presided over the first Administrative Council meeting of the conference year in Pocono Union Church. Others present for roll call were Mrs. C. F. Spangenberg, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Steward Bush, Mrs. Vida Sickler, Mrs. Arthur Post, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry. Having represented the Paradise Charge as lay delegate to annual conference in Harrisburg, Mrs. Barry presented a brief oral report. An expression of thanks was made to Mrs. Lettie Wood and Mrs. Blanche Temps for supplying palms for Palm Sunday.

Cemetery trustees, Mrs. Vida Sickler and Paul Barry reported progress made on the cemetery clean-up program and also on the perpetual care fund. Two specimen deeds were viewed by the council, which then recommended that cemetery trustees take action to have deeds printed for distribution. In the near future cemetery trustees will call a meeting to make final arrangements in this respect.

TWO OF THE outstanding events on the church calendar year are Harvest Home and Homecoming. Council set the date for the former on August 29. Homecoming date was set for Sept. 26, with Rev. Spangenberg being authorized to contact Rev. C. E. Willson, a former pastor here, as the speaker. Final arrangements for both dates will be made at the next meeting. Auditors reported work completed on both church and Sunday School treasuries, and Mrs. Martha Henry, church treasurer, gave balances on hand. Mrs. Spangenberg reported for the Paradise Women's Society of World Service treasury. It was decided that four special offerings for expanded missions will be received over the period of this conference year. Next meeting date was set for the night of Aug. 17.

ON SUNDAY Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Paul Cramer and Mrs. Vida Sickler called on Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hickethier, residents of Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Laura Bush spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Sallie Henry. Paradise Women's Society of World Service will meet at the home of Miss Lula Henry on Thursday night, June 24 at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Lettie Wood and Mrs. Julie MacDonald are making improvements in preparation for the opening of Pocono Country Lodge on July 1. Only one more meeting for this season has been planned by the Pocono Union Ladies Aid Society. Further plans, as well as setting of the date will be made for their annual bazaar. Those who attended Thursday's meeting were: Mrs.

Martha Henry, Mrs. Walter Lindstedt, Mrs. Vida Sickler, Mrs. Morton Freeland, Mrs. Lettie Wood, Mrs. Blanche Temps, Mrs. Agnes Wagner, Mrs. John Transue and the hostess, Mrs. Sallie Henry.
